Program Overview
The disruptive and transformational changes happening in the business environment today require leadership agility and mental toughness for managers and executives to cope up. The role of the leader in today's context has shifted to transforming their companies radically to improve performance by changing behaviors and capabilities throughout the organization to ensure a sustainable, scalable and viable business going forward. As a result, Managers must accelerate business agility and embrace new leadership capabilities to cope and achieve breakthrough levels of organizational performance. As your business responsibilities grow as a manager, your leadership challenges become more complex.

This Leadership Development Program will prepare managers to lead effectively in times of business growth, intense competition, financial challenges, finding a new blue ocean for your business and build a culture of leadership and ownership across the enterprise. Participants will return to their company ready to lead change with greater vision and confidence—and inspire others to help drive organizational performance. The program primes the participants for self-awareness, personal mastery and transformational leadership in today's business context. The building blocks approach and progression of learning themes, modules, and topics deliberately become more complex, as the participant engages co-participants, faculty, peers, and colleagues as learning partners. The design of the two-week program challenges the participant's leadership agility, mental toughness, management cadence, big-picture thinking, insightful learning, and collaborative attitude.

Program Objectives
- Develop leadership agility and transformational capabilities of managers.
- Deepen participants’ capabilities and competencies, management thinking to operate in an intense business environment.
